The time spent in Congress in voting for Speaker has not been wasted. It has been shown that the Anti-Nebraska party are not as strong as they thought they were. Some of the Northern Know-Nothings have been forced to expose their union with the Black Republicans before the country. They united at home in the Congressional Districts, and their seats in Congress are the results of the union; but the union could not be kept up in Congress, even in so simple a matter as the election of a Speaker and the organisation of the House. The mischief threatened cannot be done, for it is not probable that a union on the means to accomplish their ends will be more likely to take place than a union in the election of a Speaker. All epportunities have been given the Auti-Nebraska party, and still they have failed. The American party has shown itself but a South American party. The few from the Free States voting with them in Congress have no constituents at home. Few as they are in Congress, it is plain their numbers will be still less if they ever come before the people again.

It is plain now that the country will sustain of the bill, but it is a dying effort that will be discreditable in time.

The repeal of the Missouri compremise was a bold reform, accomplished by bold men, who pursued the right, manfally resting upon a confidence in the intelligence and virtue of the people. They knew the storm they would have to encounter. The timid fled, and the demagognes seized the moment of passion and excitement to accomplish their selfish purposes. They have had their men that dared to pursue it.

The contest on this bill is pretty much over. All parties have been forced to show their hands. They can't well practice a cheat upon this subject before the people. The elements of opposition are esperated. Sam must attend to the Pope and foreigners. He can't ride the anti-Nebraska hobby dragoons-and they are taking some revenge in adinto office, as he did in 1854. The voting in Congress has cleared up the fog a good deal. So it is ever, the pardoning power will be in his hands not time misspent. If Congress adjourns without anything further it has done some service.

Man is pretty much the same in every age. He is the creature of circumstances; but his nature his history, and his aspirations, all attest his di ness here and hereafter. Early in his history we find that the first governments were probably pa triarchal. The fundamental law of the Mesaic institutions of the Helrew Commonwealth, the Jewish Theocracy, was the worship of the one only true Ged. And the history of the Jewish The-Democracy. "The magistrates could neither enact laws on their own anthority, nor levy taxes;" and the infinence of the people over their magistrates and in the government attests the fact. The civi constitution was introduced as a means of establishing pure religion permanently upon the earth. Their Kings could not introduce any new mode of religions worship. They were required to reign as the representative and vessal of King Jehovah, the principles of whose government were, the free moral agency of man; and when we consider the doctrines and position of the age, especially among the Pagans liberty of conscience and religious free-Intimately connected with the doctrines of lib-

the doctrine of "passive obedience" to all the acts of the ruling power in a State. "The primitive Christians," says Gibbon, " derived the institution of civil government not from the consent of the people, but from the decree of Heaven." If, by rimitive Christians, he had any allusion to the Hebrews, and the fundamental law as delivered from Sinai, he might have added, that this law of the Hebrew commonwealth was derived from the Deity himself, who " suffered himself to be elected their King by a voluntary choice. The summary of his law was written upon two tables of stone which was to be preserved as a perpetual memoria ngs of our day ever had their parallel. If there of their obligations, and as the Magna Charta of the State." This election of the Deity, although a voluntary choice, and therefore-even under the solema manifestations of Doity himself-inculcates the doctrine of freedom of opinion, plainly and The Evening Bulletin, of yesterday, fur- unmistakably. Yet, the very circumstance has led some to cite this as an argument for the divine right of Kings, and the doctrine of unconditional CHILD BURNED.—A child of Mr. David Cooper, bout five months old, was dreadfully burned on submission. But this jure dicino doctrine is at Wodnesday evening. It was lying on a bed in war with the teachings of the Old Testament, and front of the fireplace, when the bed-clothes caught has no place in the destrines taught by Christ and The mother was in the kitchen and heard it has no place in the destrines taught by Christ and that they are Indians will be deemed deserving ery, but as it soon ceased, supposed that the father had yaleted it, who, newver, had left the recommand yaleted it, who, newver, had left the recommand be imagined. The subject of teleration, of religious liberty, is no new subject; and it would require more space those kindred subjects which are intimately connected with it, and which are scattered through so many volumes of history. But, perhaps, we owe an apology for the disjointed manner in which we have thrown these articles together. Since writing the first articles, we have thought that a more general and discursive investigation would be embrace so much of general riskers, and very general review of history, as applicable to the subject, is all that we can expect to give; gathering ject, is all that we can expect to give; gathering and jewelry to the value of $370, and ordered the subject, at a late The author of the Deeline and Fall of the Roman Empire, Vol. 1, Chap. 2, says: "The policy of the Empirers and the Senate, so far as it concerned religion, was happily seconded by the reflections of the enlightened, and by the habits of the superstitious part of their subjects. The various modes of worship, which prevailed in the Roman world, were all considered by the people as equally true; by the philosopher as equally false; and by the magistrate as equally useful. And thus teleration produced not only mntual indulgence, but even religious concord." But the artful Gibbon, in this tribute of praise to polytheism in the age of the Antonines, has been led astray by his prejudices against Christlanity, as has been very well shown by M. Constant and Milman. "The polytheistic nations, tolerant as they were towards each other as separate States, were not the less ignorant of the eternal principle, the only basis of enlightened toleration, that every one has a right to worship God in the manner which seems to him the best."

"Intolerance," says Milman, "was clearly the theory both of the Greek and Roman law." And in speaking of Gibbon's description of the religions harmony of the ancient world, and the facility with which the most different and even hostile nations embraced, or at least respected each other's superstitions, he says: "This facility has not always prevented intelerance, which seems inherent in the religions spirit, when armed with authority. According to M. Gnizot's just remarks, "religious intolerance will always ally itself with the passions of man, however different those passions may be." With these truisms before us, we may be careful about an intolerant spirit, even in the careful about an intolerant spirit, even in the nineteenth century. The dying edict of toleration by the Emperor Galerius, the "free and equal" toleration by the apostate Julian, so much lauded by Gibbon, and the still later religious toleration of Theodoric the Ostrogoth, the principles of which Theodoric himself has ac beautifully set Honoria Couth in a latter which he addressed to Justin, were

Why Females Suffer in Health. THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion, BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISKASES OF WOMEN One Hundreth Edition (500,000) 18mo., pp. 250. standard work of established reputation, found class ed in the catalogues of the great Trade Sales of New York, Philadelphia, and other cities, and sold by the principal booksellers in the United States. Every weman can here discover, by comparing he own symptoms with those described, the nature, charac ter, and cause of her complaint, and be spared muc anxiety and suffering, as well as the unpleasantness making known to, or making inquiry of, a physicianle respect to the numberless ailments to which she is subleet. The wife about becoming a mother has often ueed of instruction and advice in respect to her situa-tion, which she will here find. This book tells her what is the matter, and tells her what to do for it, in simple but chaste words, and such as she can understand.

Those suffering from obstructions or irregularities peenliar to the female system, or from prolapsus uteri (fall ing of the womb,) or from Ruor altus, will each find it pages the means of prevention, amelioration, and

Much distress of mind, as well as thousands pecun wily, might be saved to every husband, if the simples 14ws appertaining to the marriage state were better un derstood. That they are better understood is traceable to that natural and elmost commendable sensitiveness that will rather suffer than consult or converse with even a medical man in respect to complaints peculiart

In a copy of "The Married Woman's Private Medica Companion," every female has a physician that know and describes her every symptom, feeling, and ailmen and which she can consult at all times without violence to her sensitiveners. IExtract of a letter from a gentleman in Dayton, Ohio.

DE. A. M. MAURICEAU—My DEAT SITE. My wife has been perceptibly sinking for some three years or more, in consequence of great anguish and suffering some months before and during confinement; every successive one more and more desinitated and prostrates her, putting her life in immirent danger, and which was an the last occasion desparred of. I supposed that this state of things was inevitable, and resigned myself to meet the worst. I heard your book his hilly spoken of, a containing some matters reaching my case. On lister ceipt and perusal i cannot express to you the relief is alloyded my wife, on learning that the great discovery of M. M. Desomeaux provided a retuely. It opened a prosect to me which I inthe conceived was possible. But

Flour, Whisky, and Tobacco have long been regarded honecessaries of life—but; is a mistake. We can 't buy Flour—that is, Daguerrecotypists can 't-for it is too dear; the temperance men wont let us drink Whisky, and the Tobacco crop is a failure. What we can 't get it is plain we must do without, and what we can do without is not a necessary. The provert, then, is a false-hood. But one of HARRIS'S Daguri cotypes—bright hood. Adjourned till Monday. House—The proceedings opened with prayer. Mr. Fuller said, it had been his desire for weeks to withdraw as a candidate for Speaker, and had so expressed himself to his friends, but as they had considered his name under their control, and not considered his name under their control, and not his own, he had permitted its use without making any public objection. He now wished to withdraw, and have it as distinctly understood. He tendered his acknowledments for the support he received, and the uniform kindness and courtesy with which he had been treated, and expressed the hope that the House would now adopt some plan by which the difficulties heretofore existing may be settled by some mode of adjustment acrees—

The resolution Mr. Rust offered yesterday was then laid on the table by one majority.

From Rev. Wm. L. Brechinridge.

From Judge Asher Graham, (Formerly a member of the Bench of the Court of Appeals).

I have eeen some of Pr. Price's patients. They appeared to have been very much diseased, almost beyond all hopes of recovery. They now seem to be pertently relieved.

ASHER GRAHAM.

From Judge Wm. V. Loving, From Judge Wm. V. Loving,

(The American Candidate for Governor).

I have seen several of Dr. Price's patients; amongs others, Mr. S. H. Dickerson, of Monroe co. At the time I saw him he was disassed from head to foot. The left side of his face and neck was greatly enlarged and swolen. All of the left side of his neck, breass, and runh shoulder were a mass of fifthy diseases and runh eacape from deep ulcers under his collar nones, causing fifthy matter and blood to bubble out.
